

SUPT. EDWARDS FAVORS CLOSING OF SCHOOLS

OPENING DAY OF AMBOY FAIR AND ISSUES LETTER TO THAT EFFECT

CHILDREN'S DAY SEPT. 20 TH

Splendid School Exhibit Will Be a Prominent Feature of the Big Fair

Having the success of the Amboy fair at heart County Superintendent Edwards is of the opinion that the school children of the county should be given an opportunity to attend the fair on the opening day, the day when children not over 12 years will be admitted free.

There will also be a school exhibit and for this reason if no other the children should be given a day at the fair.

Mr. Edwards recommends that the rural schools be closed on Tuesday, Sept. 20th.

Issues a Letter

He has issued the following letter to the school directors:

To the School Directors of Lee Co.:
Gentlemen:—

The Lee County Fair will be held in Amboy Sept. 20-23, '10, and arrangements have been made to admit free, on the first day, children not over 12 years of age.

In the first place Lee county should have a fair and because of Amboy's splendid location, very near the center of the county, there certainly should be a turn out that would satisfy the management that their efforts were not in vain and that a continuation of the fair from year to year will not only be appreciated but expected.

Arrangements are being made as I understand it for a splendid school exhibit. This feature alone ought to attract many who otherwise might have no special interest in attending. Surely all are interested in our public schools and an exhibit such as is planned ought to mean much not only to the pupils of the county but the teachers and patrons as well.

I would therefore recommend to the directors of the several districts of Lee county that school be closed on Tuesday, Sept. 20th that the boys and girls may be privileged to, attend the fair without materially affecting their school work.

You will find that nothing will be lost by so doing and that both teachers and pupils will greatly appreciate the privilege and that in the end the schools of the county will be benefited thereby.

Very Respt.,

I. F. Edwards, Co. Spt.

COUNTY BOARD WAS IN SESSION TODAY

THIS WILL BE AN IMPORTANT MEETING OF THE SUPERVISORS

Auditing the bills against the county will be about all the business the supervisors will do until after Thursday, the day of the primary election.

The board was convened this forenoon by Chairman Shaw and the various committees were given the bills for auditing. The board then took a recess until 4 o'clock this afternoon. This is one of the most important regular sessions of the board. At this meeting the fee and salary committee will again fix the salary of the county officers. It is not likely there will be any change. The committee will hold a meeting sometime tomorrow.

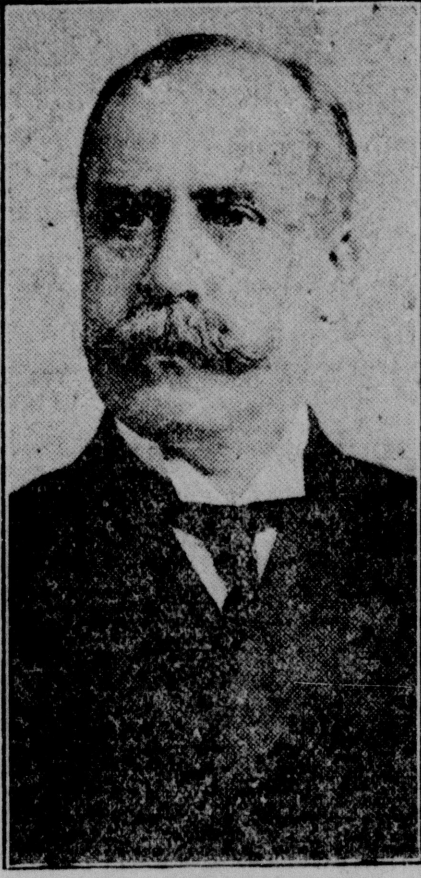

Nearly all of the members of the county board answered roll call this morning. Several who have some distance to get here reported late this afternoon.

F. W. PLAISTED

Who the Democrats of Maine Have Chosen for Governor.

THERE IS JUSTICE IN HIS CLAIM

LEE COUNTY VOTERS FEEL THAT DR. GRAY SHOULD BE NOMINATED

Dr. John H. Gray, candidate for the republican nomination for state senator, deserves the united support of the voters of Lee and Whiteside counties for the office he seeks, first because he is thoroughly fitted by ability and experience for the position, and second because Whiteside deserves the office at this time. Notwithstanding the fact that DeKalb county has a candidate, Dr. Gray is going to receive a good many votes in that county at the hands of those who while friendly to their local candidate recognize the justice of Dr. Gray's claims. All who know Dr. Gray can heartily endorse the following article which appeared in the Morrison Sentinel of yesterday:

Whiteside county has not had a State Senator for sixteen years. The other counties of the district have absorbed that office for that length of time. Now it is Whiteside's turn and there is an opportunity to have a citizen of our county—John H. Gray—elected to that office. Dr. Gray has looked well after the needs of the district as a Representative at Springfield for the past two years. He is competent, he has had experience in legislative work, and above all he is honest and incorruptible.

In these days of "jack-pots" and boodleism at Springfield it is an especial honor to the county and district to have had as a legislator a man of such scrupulous honesty and purity of life as Dr. Gray. If for no other reason than that he can be absolutely trusted he should receive the votes of Republicans, and when combined with this he possesses the requisite ability and experience, he should be accorded the earnest and enthusiastic support of every Republican voter.

STERLING-MOLINE CO.

ROUTE NOT SETTLED

The Telegraph recently published a statement, obtained from what was considered a reliable source, that the Sterling-Moline Traction Co. had decided not to build by way of Prophetstown on account of the great expense of bridging Rock river at that point. Today we received a communication from the company asking us to correct this statement, as the company has not yet determined the exact route to be followed and it is impossible to do so at this time.

MAY CAST THREE VOTES FOR ONE

ATTORNEY GENERAL STEAD GIVES INTERPRETATION OF PRIMARY LAW

"VOTE FOR ONE, TWO OR THREE"

Settles Question Which Has Puzzled Many as to Legislative Candidates

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—Attorney General Stead today gave his interpretation of the new primary law in which he says that the voters in a senatorial district may vote for three but not more than three candidates for nomination for the legislature at the primary election. In his opinion, the attorney general also declares that the voters may concentrate their strength upon a single candidate for the nomination, and that they may cast all three votes for one candidate.

Numerous requests have come to the attorney general's office as to the proper form in which the ballots should be issued by the county clerk. Mr. Stead has given the following interpretation of the law in this regard:

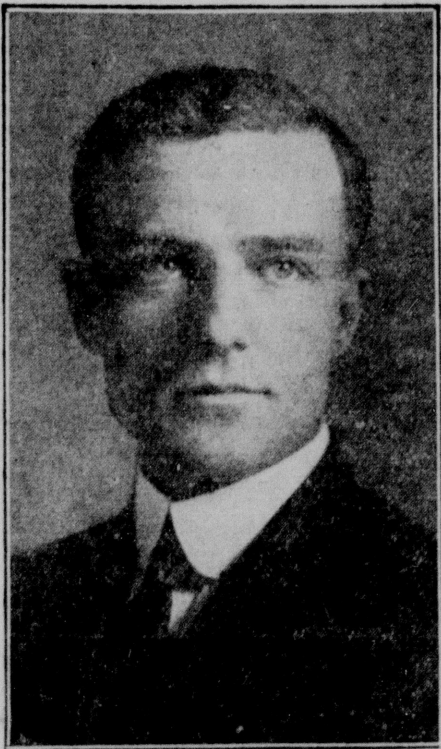

"COUNTY CLERKS MAKE A MISTAKE WHEN THEY ISSUE BALLOTS TO READ BELOW THE HEADING FOR LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES 'VOTE FOR ONE, VOTE FOR TWO, VOTE FOR THREE.' THE BALLOTS SHOULD READ, 'VOTE FOR ONE, TWO OR THREE' THEREBY MAKING IT LEGAL TO CAST VOTES FOR FROM ONE TO THREE. CANDIDATES, IF THE VOTER PLACE A CROSS IN A SQUARE OPPOSITE THE NAME OF ONE CANDIDATE, AND MAKES NO OTHER MARKS OPPOSITE THE NAMES OF OTHER LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES, THE SINGLE CROSS IS TO BE CONSTRUED AS THREE VOTES FOR THE ONE MAN."

ASKS VOTES FOR OFFICE OF SHERIFF

DUTIES HAVE KEPT C. P. REID FROM MEETING ALL THE VOTERS

The name of Clarence P. Reid, candidate for Sheriff, will appear first on the Primary ballot. His petition for this office was the first one filed with the County Clerk. Section 31 of the Primary Law provides:—

"That the priority of filing petitions

CLARENCE P. REID
Tourtillott's Popular Deputy Who Seeks Nomination for Sheriff

of candidates determines the order in which the candidate's name must appear on the ballot." Therefore the County Clerk had no choice in arranging these names on the ballot. He complied with the law and placed Mr. Reid's name first.

Mr. Reid says he regrets that he has not had the time to make a more thorough canvass and especially to call upon the voters with whom he is personally acquainted, but work connected with the office has made it impossible for him to do so. He trusts that the voters will understand his position in this matter.

DEMOCRATS WIN MAINE ELECTION

Returns Indicate Plaisted Has Been Elected Governor.

FIRST VICTORY IN THIRTY YEARS

Three Democratic Congressmen Are Elected, One Still in Doubt—Senate and House Will Be Controlled by Democrats.

Portland, Me., Sept. 13.—Rockribbed Republican Maine, which has been Republican for thirty years without a break in all that time, has elected a Democratic governor by about 5,000 plurality, and also elected a Democratic legislature to fill the vacancy occasioned by the expiration of the term of Senator Eugene Hale.

It was a landslide, sweeping everything before it. Gov. Bert M. Fernald, the Republican candidate, has gone down in defeat, the first Republican candidate for governor to be defeated since 1882. His opponent, and the man who will be the next governor of Maine, is Col. Frederick W. Plaisted, of Augusta, son of the late Democratic governor of Maine, Gen. Harris M. Plaisted, whose election was due to a fusion of the Greenback and Democratic vote in 1882. The last time that Maine elected a Democratic United States senator was in 1857.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 13.—The predicted Democratic landslide struck Maine, with the result that Frederick W. Plaisted, Democrat, of Augusta, is elected over Bert M. Fernald, the Republican incumbent, by a plurality of 3,000 to 5,000, while William M. Penell, Democrat, is elected to congress in the First district over Asher C. Hinds, Speaker Cannon's clerk, and Daniel J. McGillicuddy, Democrat, has defeated John P. Swazey, Republican, in the Second district.

Chairman Boyd, of the Republican state committee, admits that the election of Burleigh in the Third district, is in doubt with at least an even chance of election of Samuel W. Gould, of Skowhegan, Democrat.

Representative Frank F. Guernsey, of Dover, in the Fourth district, is probably safe, although hard pressed by George M. Hanson, Democrat, of Calais. Plaisted has carried nearly all the cities and large towns, while even in the country districts the Democrats have made great gains and Plaisted's plurality may be 10,000. The Democrats have made great gains in the legislature, both senate and house being probably Democratic.

The result is a surprise, not to say a shock, to the Republican leaders who supported the Fernald administration, but causes much rejoicing among those Republicans who revolted against the state administration.

At 10:30 last night, the re-election of Representative Frank E. Guernsey to congress was in doubt and reports from Piscataquis, Aroostook and Washington counties indicate the election of George M. Hanson, Democrat, by about 1,000 plurality. F. Marion Simpson, of the Republican State committee, now admits the legislature in doubt, and as returns come in from the back towns it becomes evident that the landslide has completely overwhelmed the Republicans and that both house and senate will be Democratic. This is the most important of the election, as it indicates the election of a Democrat to succeed Eugene Hale in the United States senate, something entirely unexpected by either party.

DEMOCRATS CARRY ARIZONA

Constitutional Convention Will Have 35 Democrats, 12 Republicans.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 13.—The Democrats have carried Arizona. Constitutional convention will contain about 35 Democrats, 12 Republicans and 5 Laborites. The sole issue was the initiative and referendum and recall, strongly opposed by the Republicans. The campaign has been a bitter one, many leading politicians of both parties bolting tickets.

Gila, Tucson and Pima county went Republican. Phoenix, and its agricultural district, were swept by the new propaganda. The constitutional convention is scheduled to meet Oct. 10.

SKATING RINK TO OPEN

Next Thursday evening the Armory Skating rink will open for the season, under the management of Claude Sweitzer, who will conduct the rink for the pleasure and safety of all who enjoy this healthy sport. 1200 feet of beautiful decorations will adorn the hall. All skates have been thoroughly overhauled and repaired. The skating program has been arranged for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. There will be good music by the band.

MOORE RETURNS TO UNION STATE BANK

WILL SUCCEED F. E. STITELEY AS CASHIER OF THAT INSTITUTION

ONE OF FOUNDERS OF THE BANK

Mr. Stiteley's Physical Condition Necessitates Resignation as Cashier

R. M. Moore, who organized the Union State bank several years ago, has again become identified with that financial institution. Mr. Moore has purchased the interest of F. E. Stiteley in the bank and assumed management today as cashier.

Mr. Moore organized the bank Feb. 1, 1902, and was its cashier and manager for five years.

After giving up the banking business here he spent one winter in Cuba and one winter in Arizona. After that time he again entered the banking business at Los Angeles, purchasing an interest in the Home Savings Bank of that city, being cashier of the institution, until this summer when he sold his interest in the bank. He and his wife then made an extended tour of the east.

Returning recently to Dixon he learned that the physical condition of F. E. Stiteley was such that he was compelled to retire from business and finding the Union State in first class condition and prosperous he decided to purchase Mr. Stiteley's interest and resume his former work.

Mr. Moore's financial standing in this community is of such a character that the future prosperity of the institution is assured. Mr. Moore stands high here as a financier and his connection with the Union State bank will be welcomed by its patrons, its depositors and will bring new business to this already well known and strong banking institution.

TOURTILLOTT THANKS VOTERS FOR SUPPORT

PROMISES TO REPRESENT ALL IF SENT TO THE LEGISLATURE

Republican Voters of Lee County:

Since entering the campaign for the republican nomination for member of the state legislature I have devoted what time I could to campaigning in DeKalb and Whiteside counties. In the closing days of the campaign I want to especially thank the voters of Lee county for the splendid support which they gave me in my campaign for sheriff and to say that I have tried to be worthy of the confidence which they then indicated.

During my administration of the office of sheriff I have endeavored to practice all due economy and to see that the duties of the office were performed promptly and efficiently. If the results which have been reported to you have justified your continued faith in my ability, I will appreciate your support again.

I have found the voters of DeKalb and Whiteside counties inclined to be very favorable to my candidacy. If my friends in Lee county will turn out at the primaries on Thursday I feel that success is assured.

Should I become a member of the state legislature it will be as the representative of the entire district and owing no undue consideration to any section or faction, I will endeavor at all times to keep the needs of the district in mind.

Again emphasizing the importance of every man's attending the primary election, I wish to thank my friends who have done much to encourage me in this campaign. Respectfully
A. T. Tourtillott

TOURTILLOTT SPENDS DAY IN WHITESIDE

Major A. T. Tourtillott went to Whiteside county today to wind up his contest there for the legislature. The major has completed a canvass of DeKalb county. He will spend the last day of the campaign here.

LOCAL HORSES DOING GOOD WORK

TRAINER PEARSE IS MEETING WITH GOOD SUCCESS THIS WEEK

ARE AT SANDWICH THIS WEEK

Takes Marigold to Missouri Wednesday—Karrer Won First Money at Morrison

F. M. Pearse has arranged for this week and several weeks to follow a very interesting race schedule in which he is most interested. Mr. Pearse is now and will be a very busy man with trotters and pacers for sometime to come.

This week he is at Sandwich. The race program began today. Sunday evening he shipped Joahan Man, and Carrie P., owned by Mrs. Pearse. These horses will go tomorrow.

Thursday Marigold, the fast little animal owned by J. W. Hoyle, will go at Trenton, Mo. Mr. Pearse will leave Sandwich Wednesday evening and will reach Trenton in time to handle the reins over Marigold, in the afternoon of the same day.

The stake is for $800. Marigold is making a wonderful record this season. The little trotter entered nine races, won first money in seven and second in two of the nine. Her best time was 2:19 1/4.

Spotlight Will Recover
Spotlight the pacer owned by W. C. Godfrey, who had a bone broken in one ankle at New London, Mo., is doing well and in all probability will be in shape to again enter the race schedule of next season. The animal is now in pasture at New London. The best time of Spotlight is 2:13 1/2.

Karrer B. Prize Winner
Karrer B., owned by Ely of Oregon, in charge of Mr. Pearse, two year old stallion, was in the winner of first money in the show ring at the Morrison fair.

Karrer B. came under the wire third in the 2 year trot, trotting one half mile in 1:15 in the race.

The week after this Mr. Pearse will be in Madison, Wis., from there he goes to LaCrosse, and then to the state fair at Springfield, Ill.

FOR COMMITTEEMAN IN THE SECOND

A number of republicans of the Second precinct gathered in the council chamber of the city hall last evening to select a representative republican for committeeman from that precinct. The choice fell upon W. W. Gilbert the well known insurance man.

Police Magistrate W. G. Kent was chosen to preside at the meeting. The meeting was a harmonious one and the choice of Mr. Gilbert was unanimous.

PREPARING TO GIVE HOME TALENT PRODUCTION

L. W. Harris of Chicago, representing John B. Rogers, a New York producer, has made arrangements with C. C. Brooks and the trustees of the People's church for the production "Bi Bi of the Toy Shop," to be exhibited in Dixon about the second week in October. This is a musical extravaganza and proved a great success in Decatur, Joliet and Bloomington.

REV. CLARK OFFICIATES AT TWO FUNERALS

Rev. Clark of the West Side Congregational church was called to Lee Center Saturday to officiate at the funeral of Daniel J. Fuller, an aged and respected citizen of that place.

NEW HAIR NET.

Small Hairpins Are Woven Fast to the Borders and Meshing.

It required three Londoners to devise the improved hair net which is shown in the illustration, but it would probably take more than three to get it off a lady's head unless some one of them knew the combination. The net portion of this important article is no different from that of any other hair net, but the value of the invention lies in the fact that it will "stay put." Along the borders are fastened a lot of little hairpins and a circle of double meshes passes through the middle part. Hairpins are also attached to this circle and are woven into the meshes. When one of these nets is adjusted it is there to stay until the wearer is ready to withdraw the multiplicity of little pins that hold it in place. Fitting so closely it has not the objection raised to some old-style nets that the ends come loose and give an untidy appearance to the coiffure.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

A few drops of lemon juice added to eggs that are being scrambled improves the flavor. A little oil rubbed on the stub end of a pen will prevent its rusting in the handle.

Large Gothic letters are the most in demand for marking household linen.

Stand in borax water for a little while dishes that have become brown from baking in the oven and they can be easily cleaned.

Rubbing with a piece of potato dipped in common baking soda is said to be an efficacious method of cleaning silver.

A plate scraper is a wooden device shaped to fit the curves of a plate and attached to a handle of convenient length.

FOR THE BRIDE'S TABLE.

By Miss Eunice Clarkson.

A beautiful conception for a bridal table is a "Cupid's Road." A tiny road the length of the table is made to represent Cupid's driveway. This path is made of rice bordered with smilax and white roses. All along the thoroughfare are placed bisque Cupids, and at the end of the way is a mixture of rice and smilax decorated with smilax and white roses, all ready for the bride and groom to drive away in.

Have suspended from the chandelier directly over the table a large bell made of white roses and smilax, or any flower which is used. Place a white rose at each place and for name cards use plain white ones decorated in one corner with a water color or outline sketch of a bride and groom walking up the aisle.

A bridge of flowers is another very pretty scheme. In the center of the board rests a large circular mirror bordered with flowers. At each side some distance apart are silver candelabra crowned with candles and pretty shades. From one candelabrum to another are stretched two stout wires, covered and hidden under a broad band of ribbon. The ribbon is carried under the wires also, the two bands being planned together invisibly under little fern sprays and airy bunches of white flowers. To give the prettiest effect some of the blossoms and greenery should fall naturally and easily over the edge. A bisque Cupid should be placed at each end of the bridge, and at the base of each candelabrum are strewn flowers and ferns. The idea is a unique one for a bridal table decoration, expressing the idea of crossing the flowering bridge to matrimony.

Each of the six graduates read an essay, two of them in English.

NOTICE OF AWARD

OF CONTRACT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Local Improvements of the City of Dixon Illinois, at a regular meeting held at the City Clerk's office in said City of Dixon at 10 o'clock a. m. Saturday, September 10, A. D. 1910, awarded the contract for furnishing all materials, tools, machinery and labor for constructing cement sidewalk (a) four (4) feet wide and located at the lot line of the adjoining property, on the south side of McKinney street, from the east line of North Dixon avenue to the west line of North Dement avenue and from the east line of North Dement avenue to the west line of North Jefferson avenue.

(b) Five (5) feet wide and located one (1) foot from the adjoining property on the west side of North Crawford avenue from the north line of Bradshaw street northerly the distance of 75 feet.

(c) Five (5) feet wide and located at the curb line on the north side of Fellows street, Everett street and Palmyra avenue, from the east line of right of way of the Illinois Central railway company to the west line of same, and on the south side of Palmyra avenue and Everett street from the west line of said right of way to a point 65 feet easterly from the east boundary line thereof.

And that the said parcels of sidewalk be extended at street intersections to meet and connect with the sidewalk already constructed on intersecting streets in said City of Dixon, Illinois, as provided for in City of Dixon, Local Improvement Ordinance No. 123, to A. H. Huggins and G. B. Stitzel, Dixon, Illinois. That said A. H. Huggins and G. B. Stitzel was considered by the board to be the lowest responsible bidder who submitted a proposal to furnish all materials, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of said improvement.

That the price at which the said A. H. Huggins and G. B. Stitzel was awarded said contract was approximate quantities: 5587.5 square feet of cement sidewalk at 8 cents per square foot.

The said board will on or after the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1910 enter into a contract with the said A. H. Huggins and G. B. Stitzel for all material, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of said improvement unless the requisite number of property owners or their agent who shall take oath that they are such owners or agent shall within ten days after the first publication of this notice enter into a written contract to do the whole of such work at ten per centum less than the price at which the same has been awarded, and commence said work within 30 days after such publication and prosecute the same with diligence.

CRUELTY IN FISHING.

Most Sportsmenlike Anglers Carry Little Batons to Kill Victims.

Live bait ought never to be used. To take a living minnow and thrust a hook through its back, and then to jerk it 50 or 60 feet through the air in order that it may wriggle in agony at the end of the line until it attracts some other fish to swallow it, is about as wanton a piece of cruelty as anyone could invent, and unsportsmanlike. The skilful fisherman will use a fly or some other device by which the fish he wishes to capture may be deceived and caught. The live minnow is the bait of the blunderer, not of the expert.

Even experienced fishermen sometimes commit another sort of cruelty which ought never to be practiced. They think that their fish must be kept alive as long as possible, and therefore run a string through its gills and throw it overboard, to be hauled after the boat. This is as foolish as it is cruel. When the fish has a string through its gills it cannot breathe. It is slowly strangled to death, and if it is hauled through the water after the boat it is simply drowned in its own element. Fish, when taken, should be immediately killed. That is the only way to prevent needless suffering, and we may add that it is the best way to bring the fish home in good condition.

Our best fishermen now carry little batons or clubs and kill the fish, as soon as taken from the water, by a sharp blow on the back of the head.

NOTICE OF AWARD

OF CONTRACT

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Local Improvements of the City of Dixon Illinois, at a regular meeting held at the City Clerk's office in said City of Dixon at 10 o'clock a. m. on Saturday, September 10th A. And the following parcels of said sidewalk,—(a), (c), (d), (e) at the Ottawa avenue end of same (h) except at River street—shall be extended at street intersections to meet and connect with the sidewalks constructed or to be constructed on such intersecting streets, and to within six (6) inches of the curb line of said intersecting streets in said City of Dixon, Illinois, as provided for in City of Dixon Local Improvement Ordinance No. 122, Series 1910 to J. W. Kelly of Dixon, Illinois.

That said J. W. Kelly was considered by the board to be the lowest responsible bidder who submitted a proposal to furnish all material, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of said improvement.

That the price at which the said J. W. Kelly was awarded said contract was approximate quantities: 11556 square feet of cement sidewalk at 7.9 cents per square foot and 326.9 lineal feet of combined walk and curb (4) foot walk, 6 inch curb, at 60 cents per lineal foot.

The said board will on or after the 23rd day of September, A. D. 1910 enter into a contract with the said J. W. Kelly for all materials, tools, machinery and labor for the construction of said improvement unless the requisite number of property owners or their agents who shall take oath that they are such owners or agent shall within ten days after the first publication of this notice enter into a written contract to do the whole of such work at ten per centum less than the price at which the same has been awarded, and commence said work within 30 days after such publication and prosecute the same with diligence.

Astonishing New Discovery That Heals Every Conceivable Sore Spot From Head to Toe.

No More Hiding—Cuticlay Will Clear Your Skin.

A well known general commission merchant of Chicago, Mr. C. Quinlan, says Cuticlay proved an astonishing marvel. He was laid up with a bad skin bruise that became a sore. Several specialists gave him no relief and yet in five days Cuticlay cured him. It is wonderful. Here is a strange product of nature, nothing added, nothing taken from it, mined from the earth, doing marvelous things that baffled trained and experienced specialists. W. L. Stansbury, high up in railroad circles in El Paso Tex., cured his little daughter whose face was completely covered with tetter, in just two nights' treatment. He cured a bad cut on his face in three days and was greatly astonished to learn that Cuticlay cured one of his neighbors of cancer. He says Cuticlay is certainly a wonder.

The letters that people write in about the extraordinary cures by Cuticlay are simply astonishing. Nothing sticky or greasy, no odor, apparently nothing but so much powdered gray clay and yet it instantly takes hold, just simply annihilates every pestiferous germ or parasite in the skin or scalp, doesn't burn or give any sensation and yet does things which thousands of years have been a stumbling block to the most learned dermatologists.

You can get a large can of Cuticlay at any drug store for 50 cents or will be mailed upon receipt of price. If you wish to first demonstrate what the wonderful Cuticlay will do for you upon the receipt of six cents in stamps to pay cost of packing etc. we will mail you a large trial package. The Cuticlay Co., Chicago, Ill.

Science and the Girl. Science seems disposed to spoil the girl of the present day. A famous doctor has actually announced before the august body of the French Academy of Science that it is unwise to rise the moment one is called. Girls who have been dancing half the night will rejoice in the knowledge that they are only acting for the best when they refuse to get up in the morning as soon as they are called.

The proper plan is to treat the announcement that the bath is ready with the contempt it deserves for fully twenty minutes for, says this worthy doctor, to get up at once and energetically set about the business of dressing is actually dangerous to the health.

TYPEWRITER BUILT TO ORDER

If you could have a typewriter made to order, how would you have it? Built for show—or built for SERVICE? Loaded down with attachments, devices and mechanisms—or simple, durable and efficient? Would you demand the most machinery—or the BEST; in materials, workmanship and results?

THE ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER

has every quality that you would demand in a made-to-order machine. It meets every requirement of efficiency, durability and economy.

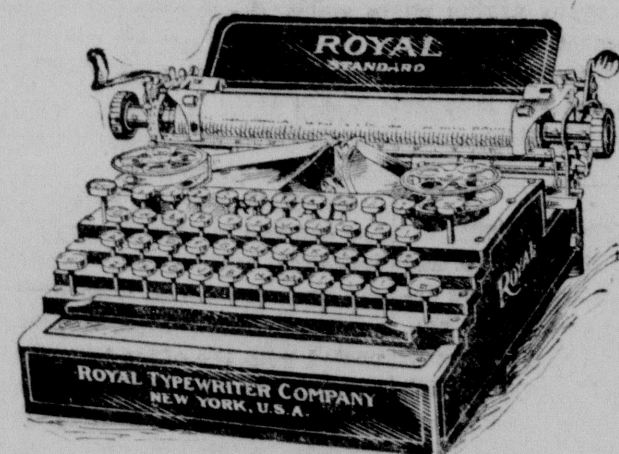

The first thing you notice about the Royal is its simplicity. You see instantly that it is constructed on new and correct principles, with all needless attachments and devices eliminated. The Royal is built for service.

It has only about half as many parts as other standard machines. The simplicity thus secured works for your advantage in four ways: A saving in the original investment; low cost of maintenance; minimum of effort and maximum of convenience in operation; and the long life of the machine.

The price of the Royal is $85—a new standard price for a high-grade writing machine.

Blackheads.
Mrs. H. G.—As long as you scrub your face you are very likely to have blackheads. Always steam the face, or bathe it well with hot water before trying to remove the blackheads.

After removing them massage thoroughly and then bathe the face with toilet water. Apply the following blackhead lotion two or three times a day. Before retiring use the cleansing cream, in the morning the toilet water. Hot water with a teaspoonful of phosphate of soda, taken before breakfast will soon make the skin look clear.

Blackhead Lotion.
Boric acid, 1 dram; Alcohol, 1 ounce; Rose water, 2 ounces.

To Reduce Hips.
Subscriber.—Stand with one foot on an ottoman and swing the other foot back and forth fifty times, night and morning. Begin a short rather slow motion, but increase the distance and height with each movement. Bathe the hips night and morning with alcohol and massage them with a deep, firm motion once or twice a day.

Talcum Powder.
Powdered talcum, 2 1/2 ounces; Zinc oxide, 4 ounces; Powdered orris root, 4 ounces; Precipitated chalk, 1 pound; Extract of violet, 2 ounces. Mix all the powders together and then the extract; let it stand for twenty-four hours, then pass through a fine sieve.

To Obtain Cucumber Juice.
Slice the cucumber without paring the cover with a little water, cook until soft, strain through a cheese cloth. The essence of cucumber is obtained by mixing equal parts of the juice and alcohol.

An Ill Wind

The big yellow car had just escaped taking off the wheel of a very smartly rigged Stanhope, and the pretty women in it had sent a look of resentment and disgust deep into poor Billy's susceptible eyes; he spoke irritably as they sped past.

"I wish to heaven, Julia, you would be more careful. That's the seventh time this afternoon we've escaped a mix-up. Let me run her now, that's a good girl."

His cousin shut her lips firmly. "If you are going to develop nerves, Billy, you can get out, you know. I may be a greenhorn, but I'm game for any amount of this business. Do we turn just ahead? I don't seem to remember this road."

"Yes, we turn—on one wheel, probably," retorted the perturbed Billy, savagely. "No stunts now. Shut her down, I say! There's the device of a hill, Julia—"

Soon afterward he sat up in the dusty grass of the roadside and gazed vaguely about him. Presently he became conscious of a peculiar object on which his hand rested. He looked down. A roasted chicken, plump, browned to a turn, met his astonished gaze. A bottle of champagne, broken, alas! lay near, its golden nectar wasted on insensate grass. Dazed and aggrieved he got to his feet, and then he sat down again suddenly. A big red car stood in the otherwise deserted road. Red!

Poor Billy pressed his hands over his traitor eyes. Red! The Meteor was yellow—he could swear to it. Yellow was Julia's color, Julia? When—where—

He got up quickly, anxiously. That reckless girl! Ah, there she wasn't!

A young woman in a torn coat of pongee sat calmly on the wall behind him, arranging her sunny hair in the indescribable fashion peculiar to all pretty women. She met his scared eyes affably.

"Come around, haven't you?" she said with a nod of her charming head. "I thought you would. You began to groan when I poured the champagne over you, but really there wasn't anything else I could do for you. On the whole I think we've come off rather luckily, don't you?"

Billy's head whirled. Who was this no-nonsense young person who said "we" so calmly to an utter stranger, and who seemed oblivious to the existence of Julia?

"Would you mind telling me what has become of Julia?" he faltered, hold his aching head. "Something has happened I think. Is she—badly hurt?"

It was the young woman's turn to start, and she did so, thoroughly.

"Julia?—What do you mean? I don't remember a thing after I screamed, when I saw that big yellow streak bearing down upon us until I found myself in these bushes and you unconscious on the grass. Who is Julia?"

Mr. Billy Brooks staggered to a seat on the wall. The girl was frowning at the rents in her long coat.

"Look at 'em," she mourned. "Even if our car isn't past patching up, I'm a wreck. I can't possibly face Mrs. Elliott and the rest in this state. You see, I lit right in those blackberry bushes. It was awfully good of you to offer to get me there quickly, but, really, the train would have been less hard on my gown."

Mr. Brooks murmured an apology absently, staring straight before him! Mrs. Elliott! An addition to his circle of acquaintances. Perhaps Julia—Our car! Our car!

"Your eyes aren't gray, and your hair isn't curly—why I don't know you, I don't," she said pitifully. "I never saw you in my life before. What—what has happened to us? You talk of Julia and—"

"Why, cousin Julia and I were driving half an hour ago in a yellow car—the Meteor. Julia and the car seem to have been translated and you're Mr. Stewart. I am here, and you are here, and a red car is here, and—er—the remains of a good lunch—not mine. My name is William Brooks. Can you throw any light on this Chinese puzzle?"

"I don't quite understand. I thought you were Mr. Stewart or I—Why, this is Mr. Stewart's car! He was taking me over to Mrs. Elliott's garden party. And that big yellow car came roaring at us!"

"When—when I crawled out of the bushes and tried to pour the champagne down your throat, I thought what pigs these people were to keep right on and never stop to see if we were killed! And you are not—Mr. Stewart—at all! If your name is Brooks, where is Mr. Stewart?"

"Where is Julia?" replied Mr. Brooks unhappily, still anchored to the wall.

"I really do not know," retorted the lady in the car, with some asperity. "It might appear to a sensible person that she is with Godfrey Stewart in a yellow car. Anything is possible after this."

Mr. Brooks slid from the wall with incredible speed.

"Godfrey Stewart! Why didn't you say that in the first place? Of course she is! He's that pie-faced college youth whom Uncle Dave kicked out of the house last spring. Just beginning his senior year, mind you, and mad to marry Julia off-hand. Will that car go? By Jove, this begins to be rather more than interesting."

With the resignation born of long practice, Mr. Brooks crawled under the car. The lady sat in dignified silence until he emerged, red but triumphant.

"O. K.," he reported, smiling as he stepped in beside her. "What the deuce Stewart left it for, I don't imagine. The Meteor isn't to be compared with it. Look here; see, here's where they turned out and around. See the marks in the dust? He's gone back the way you came."

Dexterously he turned the ponderous machine in the narrow road.

"Hold hard," he advised gayly. "I'm going to let her out all she's worth in a minute; but after we catch these two young idiots I shall demand an apology from you for mistaking me for that pie-faced kid. Really, I'm very good looking when I'm clean."

A vagrant dimple appeared in the pink cheek of the dignified young lady in the town pongee coat.

"I shall require proof," she retorted demurely. "Some people consider me quite passable when I'm not tattered and torn. Shall you demand proof?"

Two disheveled heads, a brown and a black one, popped cautiously up from behind the stone wall across the road. The pair of eyes, brown and gray, stared thankfully at a deserted, dusty roadway; then the owner of the brown eyes spoke:

"I don't think we've ever properly appreciated Hildegard," she said thoughtfully. "She's carried off this situation—and Billy—in a manner truly Napoleonic. The stage has suffered great loss in being unaware of her talent."

"Good old girl, Hildegard!" he said warmly. "Didn't she get him away in great style, and short order, though? I tell you she's an artist in fabrication—not one whooper too many. Lord! I thought old Billy would start a search party of the vicinity and we'd be collared, but he never even glanced our way. Had his eyes glued on her even in his most anxious moments about your safety. And his face—wasn't it a picture for Puck? I've laughed myself sore. I say, Julia, in spite of his mean opinion of me, old Billy's a brick!"

Miss Julia looked down thoughtfully at the tangled blackberry vines. "Billy—is Billy," she said slowly. "I really began to worry about him, Godfrey. It must have taken fully ten minutes for us to get the Meteor through these bars and hidden securely, and there he lay unconscious all that time, and none of us doing a thing for him. It wasn't fair."

"But all's fair in love and war, dear," he protested, "and this is love, isn't it? We just couldn't let such a blessed chance go by. Julia, I'm not going to finish my course. The pater had been very generous to me. I can go into the business directly I say the word, and I say the word today if you will just walk up this road with me to a little old parsonage I know of, and marry me now. What is the use of waiting to win over your father and then making a holy show of ourselves at a big wedding? I don't want it. I know you detest the thought of it—and, Julia, I—dared to get the license over a month ago, because I knew, darling, I should take the very first chance I got to get you to marry me without any fuss and feathers—and I have. Look at me, dear. You—you are not angry?"

The girl glanced nervously at the battered Meteor, half hidden behind the trees, then she turned and slipped her hands into his.

"I've always said things about girls who ran away and got married," she murmured half sadly, "and here I am doing the same thing. But it's no use to argue with father. He says I'm too young; that he'll never give his consent until I'm 25. Twenty-five! Why, that a quarter of a century, Godfrey. And I belong with you. Poor old Billy will never believe that this was really accidental, and if Hildegard ever tells him all that happened while he was unconscious—"

Young Stewart pulled her gently from the wall and marched triumphantly into the dusty road. A long, hot walk lay before them, but—

"She won't!" he declared joyously. "I think she had it on her mind to console her. Did you catch her last remark?"

Julia dimpled. "Arrant little flirt," she murmured, indignantly. "I must really warn Billy."

"When you are Mrs. Godfrey Stewart! I say, Julia, doesn't it sound pretty? Dear, I know it's warm and the dust is awful, but—could you walk a little faster? The quicker we go the sooner we shall get there. Let's hold hands like the children, Julia, and hustle."

Julia shot him a mischievous glance over her shoulder. She ignored his outstretched hand and caught up her skirts coquettishly.

"Whoever would have dreamed I'd be married in a dirty white linen gown?" she inquired plaintively. "Faster? Well, I used to be a very good runner, Godfrey. Shall we see if I have deteriorated?"

The "Don't Need To" Theory

In the recent debate at Reno Mr. James Jeffries failed to convince Mr. John Johnson. Some seven or eight years ago Mr. Jeffries was the leading man in his line of work. Business was good and his profits were big.

Having all the money he could handle at the time, he concluded to take a rest.

To be sure he planned to get in the field again at the proper time.

But everything was rosy and there really seemed no good and sufficient reason why he should spend so many hours a day keeping his muscles lithe and strong and his wind good and his heart and nerves in trim.

Eventually the meeting with Mr. Johnson was arranged. Mr. Jeffries was still tolerably content with what he had done.

(Brother, a has-done is about as bad as a has-been.)

Mr. Jeffries did not care to stand up in the training ring and punch and take punches. He did not see any necessity of practicing side-steps and feints and rushes.

He knew all about them. Why, seven years ago he had done all of that he ever needed to do.

Mr. Johnson did not overlook the boxing and the wrestling and the clinching and the sidestepping, etc.

As a result, Mr. Jeffries received Mr. Johnson's compliments on the point of the jaw and his business career closed.

Advertising a business is the training of that business.

Advertising keeps a business healthy.

It tones up its liver, strengthens its biceps, steadies its heart and keeps its nerves in order.

Once in a while a man decides he is doing so much business that he can stop advertising for a while and run on momentum.

Momentum is the gradual process toward a full stop.

The momentum business is usually prematurely full stopped by the straight left jab of the well-trained competitor who finds his opening in the fifteenth round.

If you want to stay in business stay in the advertising field.

No matter how much business you are doing, keep up the energy that makes it.

You might as well cut off your legs because you are running well in a foot race as to cut off your advertising because your business is too good.

You might as well tell the insurance man that you are so healthy you will drop the policy for a few years as to stop advertising because the orders are piling up.

"Don't need to" is the eventual preliminary to "Can't do it."

The only man who doesn't need to advertise is the man who has retired from business.

The only policy holder who doesn't need to pay his premiums is dead.

Mr. Jeffries doesn't need to train any more. He is licked.

SHALL CHICAGO RUN THE STATE?
For a number of years, certain interests in the City of Chicago have been advocating a plan to improve the Illinois river at the expense of the taxpayers of the entire state, for the main benefit of the City of Chicago, it being the belief that the contemplated river improvement would furnish power for Chicago industries.
A great deal of literature was sent out from that city to enlist the country vote in favor of this project, under the pretense of furnishing cheap transportation.
If it had not been for John C. McKenzie and his fearless and able attack on the bill to issue the bonds, the people of Illinois would perhaps have failed to awaken to the situation, and the scheme might have succeeded.
The great speech made in the State Senate by John C. McKenzie opened the eyes of thousands of people to the real merits of the contest that was before the legislature on the question of issuing twenty millions of dollars in bonds. That awakening became so rapid and decisive that the state legislative house refused to pass the bill, and the bonds are yet unissued.
John C. McKenzie was the first man at Springfield with courage and ability to fight that scheme. He did more than any other man to prevent the fastening of a debt of more than one million dollars upon the district in which he is now a candidate for Congress.
If he were purchasable either by money or political promises, the tremendous pressure that was brought to bear for votes on that measure would have silenced his voice, as it did silence the voices of many men in that legislature. That he stood against all that strong combination pledged to this measure, and told the truth as to the horde of political followers who were waiting for salaried places promised them in the division of the "waterway spoils" will never be forgotten by the farmers and taxpayers of his district.

SCORE WAS WRONG
We'll take it back, Mr. Reynolds Colts.
"Van" our "war correspondent of sports" gave us the right score, but the "Devil" was on the job, the rest of the "makeup" men were off recruiting, and the "Devil" who apparently thought he had an opportunity to put over a good one on his favorite team, Swissville, gave them a score that looked good on paper any way. He published the score made in Sunday's game as being 19 to 1 which was all wrong.
This was the score, Swissville, 9 Reynolds Colts 1. Forgive us, and forget it.
Note: Once more the editorial department puts the blame on the "Devil!"

Snails Are Queer Creatures.
The snail is found everywhere, over 3,000 species being known. Some of the large tropical snails, as bulimias, form nests of leaves, their eggs being as large as a pigeon's. The snail is extremely skillful in mending its shell, and some curious experiments may be made with them. Thus I have seen a helix of a yellow species attached to another shell of a reddish hue by cutting off the top whorl of the latter, when the snail will proceed to weld the two shells together and occupy both, using the addition as a door and possibly wondering at this sudden extension of its house. In the winter some of the snails hibernate or lie dormant until warm weather. A snail of the Philippine Islands has a faculty of throwing off its tail when seized. This is also true of a West Indian variety, stenophus.—London Telegraph.

FARMER TELLS WHY HE FAVORS GRAY

ADVANCES LOGICAL REASONS WHY HE SHOULD BE NOMINATED FOR SENATOR

The last issue of the Dixon Citizen contains the following interesting communication:
Compton, Ill., Aug. 25, 1910.
Editor Citizen: I am a republican farmer. In my busy life I don't suppose I have thought very much about men in politics. I have gone to the polls and voted a straight republican ticket and then came back home again and forgotten all about politics.

When our Compton paper was removed, I was sorry, and when you changed its politics, I confess I got pretty sore; it was the first time I had expressed any particular interest in politics. But you have put your politics so decently before us and you have shown Compton so much attention, that I am compelled to admit that your paper now is a welcome visitor at our home.

One thing in particular has interested me lately. You are a stickler for fair play and that is what I like. This year, the many exhibitions of selfishness have opened my eyes for the first time. If I was a democrat, I should vote for Burr B. Smiley because it is nothing more than fair. By everything that is fair, Mr. Smiley is entitled to have the nomination because it is DeKalb county's turn to take the office of Minority representative.

Having made this statement, I am led to make the point I wish in particular to make: From my standpoint which is a farmer's why is it not Whiteside county's turn to have the republican nomination for state senator? Can you remember the time when Whiteside county had the senator? If you can you are a pretty old man.

On the other hand, what can you say for Lee and DeKalb counties? Beginning with the time when Hunt of DeKalb literally struck Compton's candidate, W. L. Guffin between the eyes Whiteside county has had no senator that I can recall and before that time Judge Crabtree had the office. Don't you remember how the man Hunt took the office from Mr. Griffin and don't you remember how brutally and questionably he took it? If you don't you must have a very bad memory or else you were too young to recall the event. Let me also ask you if you remember how long Hunt hung on so that once before he gave it up, then what county got it next? Not Whiteside, but Lee and if you don't remember now long Lee held it you ought to; two terms, I believe, or adding Lee and DeKalb together, those two counties have held the office for at least twenty years. Just now DeKalb county enters the race and asks the republicans of the district to give it the office again. If permitted to take it, that will make 24 years the two counties will have enjoyed it. I don't know but it's 28.

This is so unfair that I shall vote for Dr. Gray of Whiteside for state senator and something I never have done before, I shall ask my farmer friends to do the same. For DeKalb county republicans to ask for the office again is a piece of selfishness which should be resented at the primaries by every fair minded man.

I have met Dr. Gray once and I found him a man of just as good intelligence as Mr. Cliffe that I met on one other occasion. If Lee county republicans give their support to DeKalb county it will be an act of selfishness which must and will bound backward against the circle of very selfish men who are circling for Mr. Cliffe.

I hope Smiley from DeKalb will be nominated and I hope Gray of Whiteside will be nominated.
A Republican Voter

A Brougham Pun.
John Brougham was celebrated for his ready wit, and a story is told of him and Pat Hearn, who was the Cantfield of his day. Hearn was a big man and addicted to flashy waistcoats. In one of his parts Brougham made up to resemble Hearn and wore a particularly loud and gaudy waistcoat. Hearn's friends persuaded him to go to see the play, anticipating considerable amusement at his expense. As they were coming out of the theater he was asked what he thought of Brougham's performance. "Not a bit like me. Why, I wouldn't own such a waistcoat." Brougham, hearing this, said, "I see; he wouldn't acknowledge the Pat Hearn-ity (paternity)." — "Recollections of Lester Wallack."

PROF. L. W. MILLER ENDORSED

ALTHOUGH UNOPPOSED, HAS MADE THOROUGH CAMPAIGN FOR OFFICE
Prof. L. W. Miller will go into the Republican primary on Thursday a clean strong candidate with the very best of records. Although unopposed in his party, he has been one of the most active of Lee county's campaigners. Generously endowed by nature with fine ability adapted to leadership. Prof. Miller has demonstrated a capacity for accomplishing the larger things in school matters. His broad and thorough education, years of specific preparation and wide range of experience mark him the logical candidate for this office. He has received unqualified endorsement from every section of the county, from many of the foremost educators of Northern Illinois, and from the office of the State Superintendent.
Ralph Johnson of Palmyra is in town today on business.
T. W. Gault of Morrison was here Monday transacting business.

No Wonder He Was Disgusted.
It was on the Peary north pole expedition that an Eskimo came into possession of a piece of wire. Never having seen wire before, he asked Professor D. B. McMillan what it was for.
"White men string it on poles struck into the ground, and by talking into an instrument at one end the voice can be heard on the other," he was told by Professor McMillan. The next morning somebody called to Peary and the other members of the expedition to come out and watch the Eskimo. He was sticking some forked poles into the ground and hanging his piece of wire on top of them. He next held one end of the wire to his mouth and talked to it at the top of his voice. Then he hurried to the other end and held the wire to his ear, expecting to hear his own words repeated. When he failed to hear any sound he looked at his white friends in disgust.—Chicago Tribune.

HARRIS IS WORKING HARD

PUSHING HIS CANDIDACY WITH VIGOR IN EVERY COUNTY
With the primaries only three days away, Arthur G. Harris of Dixon has not ceased his untiring efforts in the campaign for nomination as candidate for representative in the general assembly. Mr. Harris has been working night and day, so to speak, in a series of tours of the district. At the same time an active and efficient corps of lieutenants have been looking up the situation in their local fields and the prediction warranted by the outlook is highly favorable to Mr. Harris.
The first to launch his candidacy and present it to the voters of the district, Mr. Harris gained a long lap on his rivals and has not lost the early advantage for a moment. In an automobile he has been touring every community for months, and everywhere has been accorded genial welcome and out-spoken pledges of support.
As an attorney in Dixon for eight years Mr. Harris has always held a prominent place in public life and through his contract with the voters and residents, first of his own county and then of the adjoining counties has gained an acquaintance which constitutes a strong factor back of any man's campaign. He is universally regarded as a man of keen insight into the intricacies of present day legislation. He is not now an office holder and consequently has been free to prosecute his campaign vigorously. Mr. Harris success at the primaries is predicted. Sterling Gazette, Adv.
ECCENTRIC BRIGNOLI.
Some of the Peculiarities of the One Famous Tenor.
Brignoli, the great tenor, was so careful of his voice when he had to sing that he would not speak at all and was in the habit of writing his wishes on a piece of paper. During the last years of his life he lived at the Everett House, New York, where not on the road. It took him at least three-quarters of an hour to go from his room to the sidewalk. He must get used to the changes very gradually. Leaving the room, he would pace up and down the hall for ten or fifteen minutes until thoroughly "acclimatized," as he himself would say, and from there would go to the lobby to experience for twenty minutes a slightly lower degree of temperature.
At the end of half an hour he usually reached the vestibule, where he would pass another quarter, opening the outer door occasionally to get a taste of the fresh air. When thoroughly acclimatized here he buttoned his greatcoat close about him and stepped out on the pavement.
Brignoli never was known to be ready to go on the stage to sing his part. He had to wait one minute or several minutes before appearing. In this he was a great trouble to managers. "Just give me one minute more," he would beg, and when that was up he would plead for another and another till all patience was exhausted.
Bleeding by Bowshot.
That all diseases can be cured by bleeding is still firmly believed by several savage tribes and especially by the Papuan negroes. When one of their physicians becomes convinced that it is necessary to bleed a patient he goes several feet in front of him, and then, drawing his bow, he fits a sharp pointed arrow to it and, after careful aim, fires the arrow into the vein which he desires to open. The arrow, it is said, invariably goes straight to the mark, and the thorn or splinter of glass with which it is tipped does the work as successfully as a lancet. Moreover, the patients never show the slightest fear, since they are convinced that from the moment the arrow pierces their veins they will begin to recover.

Fooled the Critics.
"Beerholm Tree," said a Philadelphia critic, "at the beginning of his career undertook the part of the blind Colonel Chalfice in 'Alone.' Tree was a very nervous man in those days. He was always forgetting his lines. But as the blind colonel he seemed destined to be particularly nervous, and therefore he arranged with the prompter that on the first night, whenever he forgot a speech, he should snap his fingers as a signal for help.
"The first night came, and Tree forgot his lines continually. His fingers snapped all through the show like an unending package of firecrackers. He thought his career was doomed, but the next morning all the critics said of him unanimously:
"Mr. Tree's artistic study of the blind Colonel Chalfice was a revelation. Never before have the habits and thoughts of the blind been so carefully analyzed and so faithfully portrayed. The entire study was perfect, even down to the nervous twitching of the fingers and the anxious listening, as though loss of sight made hearing all the more dear."

ARKANSAS VOTE IS LIGHT

Gov. Donaghey Claims Victory Over A. J. Roland, Republican.
Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 13.—Arkansas voted for state, district and legislative and county officers, and for and against a constitutional amendment providing for the initiative and referendum. The vote throughout the state was light in comparison to two years ago, when the vote was 155,000.
Gov. Donaghey stated that from the returns at hand, his vote will not fall below 110,000, which would give him a majority over Andrew I. Roland, his Republican opponent, of 40,000. The governor says he is also confident that the amendment has been ratified by at least 30,000 majority.

The Silver Horde

By REX BEACH

Author of "The Spoilers" and "The Barrler"

A Stirring Story of the Great Northwest

Mr. Beach has written his most powerful novel in "The Silver Horde." His characters are men and women of flesh and bone. There is action in every line of this story of frenzied finance that embraces the money markets of New York and Chicago as well as the mining and salmon fishing industries of Alaska.

The Silver Horde Is by Far the Most Exciting Story Offered to the Public in Recent Years

Will Be Printed in The Telegraph Beginning Soon

POINTING THE BONE

Queer Superstition of the Native Blacks of Australia.

The native blacks of Australia are steeped in superstition. A black fellow will on no account go near the spot where another black has been buried. He has a deep rooted aversion to one particular bird—the wagtail—because, he says, "him all day talk, talk along a white feller, tellum all about black feller," and no opportunity is lost of killing these little birds.

Many tribes "bury" their dead by sticking them up into the forks of trees and then leaving them till the flesh has either dropped or been taken, leaving the bones clean. These bones are then taken down, the larger ones buried and the smallest handed round as keepsakes to those specially related to the deceased. Should one black fellow wish the death of a rival or enemy he points the bone at him. This means that he takes one of his late relation's bones from his dilly bag and points it, in the presence of witnesses, at the man he wishes to get rid of, all the time pouring forth threats and curses.

Strange as it may seem, the one pointed at will often languish and eventually die, perhaps in a month, perhaps in a year, for no sooner is the bone pointed than he makes up his mind to die, and there is no saving him.

What Is a Billion?

A billion in Britain is a million times a million.

But no man is able to count it. You will count 160 or 170 a minute. But let us suppose that you go up as high as 200 a minute, hour after hour. At that rate you would count 12,000 an hour, 28,000 a day, or 105,120,000 in a year.

To count a billion would require a person to count 200 a minute for a period of 9,512 years, 342 days, 5 hours and 20 minutes, providing he should count continuously. But suppose we allow the counter twelve hours daily for rest, eating and sleeping; then he would need 19,025 years, 379 days, 10 hours and 40 minutes in which to complete the task!

Oral Hygiene.

One of the diseases of civilization is defective teeth, and the more study there is given to oral hygiene the clearer it becomes that inattention to health of the teeth accounts for not a few other ills of the body. Indifference would bring, dentists with public spirit are now moving for recognition by education of the part which oral hygiene should have in the service of the public school to the child. They are insisting on dental as well as medical inspection of children, not for selfish ends, but to correct, early in life, tendencies which will debilitate the entire system if not checked.

Effects of Overeating.

"Don't eat too much," says "What-to-Eat." Overeating is responsible for many of the ills that afflict humanity. It brings on various diseases, and it predisposes to many kinds of infections. The same stricture may be applied to overdrinking. If one has been so foolish as to eat or drink too much, however, the best thing is to remain in the open air till the effects are overcome. Nothing is so good for an overloaded stomach and a heavy head as great draughts of fresh air. Every lover of "Pickwick" remembers how the jolly Pickwickians had to take twenty mile tramps to walk off the big dinners they ate at old Mr. Wardle's place in the country.

Centre of Glove Industry.

The center of the glove industry is at Grenoble in the south of France. The kids there are tended with the greatest care, the idea being to produce skins that are strong and pliable and at the same time free from blemishes. The finest quality of kid is obtained from animals that are killed before they begin to eat grass at all, because from that time the skins have a tendency to become hard and coarse.

A Sky Trust.

The new comet has six tails. The syndicate idea has evidently spread to the heavens.

VALUABLE HORSES BURNED TO DEATH

Boarding Stable Destroyed by Fire in Hempstead, L. I.

VAN NEST VILLAGE IN RUINS

Oil Fire in Bakersfield, Cal., Becomes Spectacular—Flowing Wells Throw Flames 400 Feet Into Air—Oil Loss Very Large.

New York, Sept. 13.—In a fire in the stables of George Munson, on the old Joshua Barren estate, Hempstead, L. I., eight valuable horses were burned to death and fourteen others were saved. Munson is a son of John Munson, aide-de-camp of Col. Mosby of guerrilla fame, the owner of the Barren estate, comprising several hundred acres, and he keeps a boarding stable for the horses of wealthy New Yorkers who are out of town during the summer. Monday he found the east wing of the stables belching out smoke. In a stall was Winfred, a mare belonging to Bird S. Coler. Mr. Munson tried to get her out, but the smoke, with tongues of flames, so scared the mare that she refused to budge.

Mr. Munson ran to the stall of Accountant, a valuable stallion belonging to him. By this time the whole ceiling was in flames, that ate their way downward rapidly. Diamond Jim Brady once paid $33,000 for Accountant and the stallion has won over $87,000 in purses. Munson got down on his hands and knees and crawled out, called to the stallion to follow him. Accountant ducked his head beneath the smoke wreaths and followed Mr. Munson out in safety. By this time the fire had become too hot to enter the stable. The grooms had already removed thirteen horses from danger. Among them were two pole ponies belonging to Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., for which she paid $2,500. In twenty minutes the stable had been burned to the ground. Of twenty-one horses in the stable at the time, eight were killed.

TWELVE DWELLINGS BURNED

Loss Is Placed at $60,000—Several Persons Injured—Probably 1 Dead.

New York, Sept. 13.—Van Nest village, a small settlement in the upper part of the Bronx, near West Farms, made up of wooden dwelling houses and several manufacturing plants housed in wooden buildings, was practically wiped out by fire. Twelve dwelling houses and the plant of the Van Nest Wood Working company were completely destroyed at a loss of $60,000 and a row of houses was partially burned.

Several persons were injured. George Thomas, the watchman of the Wood Working company, is missing.

OIL WELLS ARE SPOUTING FIRE

During Conflagration Fissure Opens and Oil Damage Is Large.

Bakersfield, Cal., Sept. 13.—A remarkable and spectacular oil fire occurred in the Midway oil district when for a time four flowing wells became volcanoes, throwing flames 400 feet in the air. Flames, the origin of which is unknown, started in a well of the American Oil Fields company. The Honolulu well, which has been quiet for some time, began spouting soon after the fire started and immediately took fire and two other wells also caught. While the fire was at its height, a fissure more than 1,000 feet long, and of unknown depth, opened up from a well nearby and breaking an embankment caused the loss of a large quantity of oil.

THREE KILLED; 10 HURT

Hocking Valley Train Wrecked at Point Near Lemoyne.

Disaster Due to Collapsible Part of Locomotive of New Design, Which Was Being Tested.

Toledo, O., Sept. 13.—Three persons were killed and at least ten more or less seriously injured when Hocking Valley passenger train No. 38 was wrecked between Lemoyne and Cumings, near here. The dead: George Milbourne, Columbus, O., engineer on locomotive; L. C. Engler, road foreman, Columbus, O.; G. J. Devilliss, superintendent of motive power, Columbus.

It is said that the wreck was due to collapse of parts of the locomotive, which was of new design and was being tested under the direction of Superintendent Devilliss and Foreman Engler.

Among the injured are: Sam Nader, fireman, badly scalded; F. M. Backus, Hikeon, O., chest bruised, cut on temple, rib broken; William Hoffman Blakesley, O., cut and bruised on the head and face; C. W. Baldwin, Columbus, head cut; Harry Graham, Athens, nose cut, head bruised; E. C. Leary, Coshocton, bruised about back and legs.

PRESIDENT PLANS HOME STATE VISIT

Trip Will Combine Both Business and Pleasure.

OPENS KNOXVILLE EXPOSITION

Nation's Chief Executive Also Attended Funeral of Late Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers—Itinerary of Trip.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 13.—President Taft will visit Ohio his home state, before returning to Washington. He will spend four days in Cincinnati at the home of his brother, C. P. Taft. While personal business is the immediate reason for the trip to Cincinnati, the president will see the Republican leaders and probably do something with a view to improving the situation of the party in his home state.

The convention fight left strong factional feeling among the Republicans and this added to the spirit of insurgency and the strength of Gov. Harmon, presents a situation that is giving the president's advisors a good deal of concern.

The president will leave Beverly next Sunday night. He will stop off at New Haven on Monday to attend a meeting of the Yale university corporation, and will arrive in Cincinnati on the 20th. From the Ohio city he will go direct to Washington to attend a three days' cabinet meeting. After the cabinet meeting he will leave again for Beverly, stopping one night in New York city to speak before the National League of Republican clubs.

It is doubtful now if the president will make a trip to Panama this fall. He had planned tentatively to leave for the isthmus on Nov. 8, returning to Washington shortly before congress reconvenes. Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and others of the president's advisors are credited with having urged him to give up this trip and to remain at the helm in Washington in the weeks immediately preceding the opening of congress.

The president got away from his visitors long enough to touch an electric button at the Taft cottage, thus setting in motion the wheels of the Appalachian Exposition at Knoxville, Tenn.

The president motored into Boston Monday morning and attended the funeral of Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers at the Hotel Touraine. Mr. Taft was one of the honorary pallbearers.

PLAN LORIMER BANQUET

Solon's Friends Plan to Eclipse the Hamilton Dinner.

New Club May Be Outgrowth of the Recent T. R. Episode—10,000 to Be Invited to Senator's Spread.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Friends of United States Senator William Lorimer are going to give him a dinner. They intend to eclipse the Hamilton club dinner with a monster function that will show the strength of Lorimer. President Taft will be invited to sit at the head of the table thus discountenancing the action of his predecessor in office. The scene of the function will be in all probability the Coliseum. At least 10,000 persons are to be present and among them will be big politicians from Illinois and other states.

As a sequel to the dinner the organization of a new Republican club in Chicago is predicted. The club is expected to consist of Lorimer supporters, whose resignation from the Hamilton club is looked upon as sure to follow that of their chief, and other prominent Republicans who have no central club affiliations.

The details of the program remain to be arranged, but it is the present intention to hold it prior to the election of November. Speaker Cannon is understood already to have tentatively accepted an invitation and most of the Illinois congressmen will be invited.

Limitations of Practice.

In an Iowa town an action for ejectment was not long ago tried "by the court without a jury," the suit having been brought by a religious society to recover possession of a cemetery.

The defendant, a physician in active practice, had bought the ground for the use of the society, but when afterward he severed his connection with the organization, it was discovered that he had taken the title in his own name and evidently intended to hold on to it.

After duly weighing the evidence, the court ordered judgment for the plaintiff, stating briefly the reasons for the decisions. Whereupon defendant's counsel desired to be more fully enlightened in the premises.

"Certainly," said his Honor. "In addition to what I have already said, there are but two other reasons. One is that the church seems to need a cemetery and the other is that the doctor has failed to show that his practice is sufficiently large to necessitate his maintaining his own burying ground."

Part of the Treatment.

Tompkins had suffered terribly, and at one time it appeared that his illness might have a fatal termination. But skillful doctors and a pretty nurse tended him most carefully, and the crisis was successfully passed. The pretty nurse was Tompkins' one ray of sunshine during his weary hours, and he fell desperately in love with her.

"Nurse Edith," he said one day, "will you be my wife when I recover?"

"Certainly!" replied the consoled, suffering humanity.

"Then my hopes are realized. You do real!" he queried the anxious Tompkins.

The pretty nurse stammered. "Oh, no," she said. "It is merely part of my treatment. I must keep my patients cheerful. I promised this morning to run away with a man who has lost both his legs."

Origin of the Charivari.
The charivari and missile throwing indulged in by friends on the departure of the wedded twain is a good-humored counterfeit of the armed protest made by the relatives of old when a bride-snatcher came among them.

The Honeymoon.
The word is said to owe its origin to the custom of an ancient German people who were in the habit of drinking mead mingled with honey for thirty days after a wedding took place.

TROOP TRAIN IN WRECK
Two Passenger Trains Collide Head-on Near Brightwood.
Two Were Killed and Sixteen Injured When Train Strikes Open Switch—Soldiers on Way to Camp.

Indianapolis, Sept. 13.—Two were killed and sixteen injured, three seriously, in a head-on collision of two passenger trains on the Cleveland division of the Big Four railroad, one-half mile east of the Brightwood yard limits. Passenger train No. 9 struck an open switch connecting the double tracks and plunged at the rate of forty miles an hour, into a soldiers' special on the north track, loaded with more than 900 national guardsmen of the First Kentucky regiment, bound for Fort Benjamin Harrison.
On the soldiers' train, two baggage cars were packed with canvas tents and stoves, and these cars stayed the shock. Their weight is enormous. As it was, however, many in the forward coaches were tossed about and confusion that became a panic reigned until commanding officers took control of the situation and marshalled their men on the right of way to take stock.

HUGHES--CHIEF JUSTICE
Reported Taft Intends to Name Him as Fuller's Successor.

Charles Nagel, Secretary of Department of Commerce and Labor, is Slated to Succeed Moody.

Washington, Sept. 13.—With President Taft's ante-congress cabinet meeting only about ten days off, official Washington is full of speculation as to who will be named to succeed Associate Justice William H. Moody of the supreme court, when Mr. Moody resigns. The latest gossip, and it is founded on some knowledge of the president's mind, is that Charles Nagel, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, is being seriously considered for this place. Mr. Nagel is regarded by the president as a very able lawyer.

It was reported here also that there is no question that Mr. Taft intends to appoint Gov. Hughes of New York as chief justice of the United States supreme court to succeed the late Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller.

COMMITTEE TO MEET TODAY
Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy to Be Discussed in Chicago Conference.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Chicago has become the scene of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy with the advance guard of the congressional committee. "I see no likelihood for a quorum here," said Senator Sutherland of Utah.
"We have not discussed our findings yet. I suppose we will have a conference and determine therein what we shall do. The action of the five members at St. Paul still leaves us a quorum of seven members of the committee and it is probable that we will have a meeting of the seven."

ACCUSE WIRELESS OPERATOR
Operator on Ferry No. 17 Held Responsible for Lives in Disaster.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—If the wireless operator on Pere Marquette ferry No. 17 had picked up a message early on Friday morning, not a life would have been lost in the sinking of the Pere Marquette No. 18, the car ferry excursion boat, according to Seymour B. Cochrane, general manager of the Chicago Navigation company, who was one of the thirty-three persons rescued from the ill-fated steamer.

FLIGHT OF THE EARTH.
Rushing Through Space at the Rate of a Million Miles a Day.

Our dear old earth, which seems immovable and solid as we go about our daily work or travel over its furrowed surface, is yet spinning and rolling and swaying in complex but orderly motion. Its axial rotation gives us day and night. Its circuit round the sun brings the seasons and the year. The circling of the poles produces the procession of the equinoxes. The planets perturb in its courses. The plane of its orbit sways up and down, and its perihelion is slowly shifted. The moon swings round a center of gravity common to both, while the sun and all our system speed onward to some far distant goal. And, if the bright star in the constellation Taurus is the central point round which this vast orbit sweeps, then Alcione is the center of the universe for us.
As far as astronomers can judge, this motion through the vast abyss of interstellar space is at the rate of about a million miles a day, and it is in the direction of the constellation Hercules. The motion through space is believed to be away from Argus and toward Hercules. Some have thought that Alcione in the Pleiades is some where near the center of the vast circuit swept over by the sun and his attendant worlds. If this is true, that beautiful star as it silently twinkles in the constellation Taurus becomes of surpassing interest to mankind.—Chicago Tribune.

CHICAGO PACKERS INDICTED BY JURY
Armour, Swift, Morris and Tilden Hit in Beef Probe.

TRUST LAW VIOLATION CHARGED
Grand Jury Follows Judge Landis' Instructions and Indicts Men Instead of Corporations—True Bills Are Returned.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—J. Ogden Armour, Louis F. Swift, Edward Morris and Edward Tilden, the big four in the Chicago beef trust, were indicted by a federal grand jury, charged with being in a combination in restraint of trade, in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. In addition, named in the true bills, were Arthur Meeker, of Armour & Co., and Charles Swift and several other men of lesser light in the beef combination.

The corporations named in the recent true bills which were found faulty by Judge Landis were not named. The grand jury had followed out the instructions of Judge Landis and indicted the men instead of the corporations.
The names and offices of the indicted men are:
J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., and director of the National Packing company, declared to be the clearing house of the trust.
Edward Morris, president of Morris & Co., and a director of the National Packing company.
Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., and a director of the National Packing company.
Edward Tilden, former president of the board of education and president of the National Packing company.
Arthur Meeker, general manager for Armour & Co., and a director of the National Packing company.
Charles H. Swift, a director of Armour & Co., and a director of the National Packing company.

Under section 2 of the Sherman anti-trust law these convicted under this indictment may be sent to prison for one year, fined $5,000, or both, in the discretion of the court.

M'FARLAND CALLS OFF FIGHT
Will Not Meet Wolgast Owing to Non-Posting of $1,000 Forfeit.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—There will be no McFarland-Wolgast fight in Milwaukee on Sept. 29 unless the Stock Yards lightweight changes his mind and puts the battle on again.

Just at a time when the Star Athletic club of Milwaukee was given assurance that they could hold the contest and secured a ball park for the encounter, the Chicago lad decided in that the club had not posted their forfeit of $1,000, he would not fight. The word was sent out by Packey himself.

LIGHTNING BOLT HITS CHURCH
Severe Electrical Storm in Chicago—Man Drowned in Lake.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—One man was drowned while returning from a sail on the lake and a church was struck by lightning in a severe electrical storm which swept over the city.
Albert W. King, a contracting engineer, was the victim of the drowning. Lightning struck the steeple of the German Lutheran church at North Fifty-Seventh and Belden avenues and set fire to the structure. Firemen saved the building from destruction.

BALL GAME CAUSE OF MURDER
Gate Keeper is Killed in a Row Over the Price of Admission.

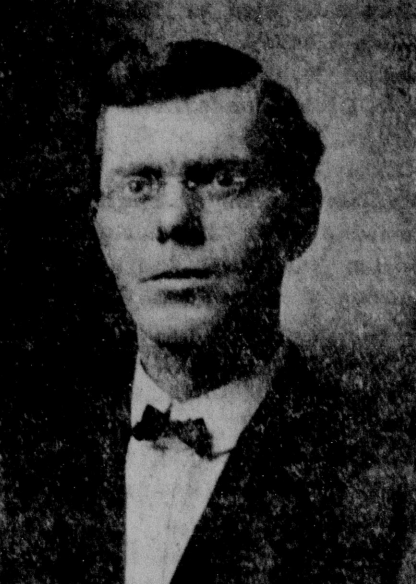

Galatia, Ill., Sept. 13.—Walter C. Holliday was shot and killed at the ball game between the Thomsonville and Galatia teams.
Holliday was the gate keeper and was collecting 15 cents, the price of admission, from Joseph Wiggins, when a quarrel arose and Wiggins shot him. Sheriff Cummins of this county and a posse with bloodhounds set out to arrest Wiggins.

CANOE UPSETS; TWO DROWN
Illinois Youths Lose Lives in Kankakee and Fox River.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 13.—While canoeing on the Kankakee river, Otis Brady and William Lohman, young men, were drowned by the capsizing of the craft.

STATE'S ATTORNEY KILLS MAN
Shooting Follows Row About Editorial Criticism of County Official.

Vienna, Ill., Sept. 13.—Thomas Sheridan, state's attorney of Johnson county, shot and instantly killed Harry Thacker. The trouble between the two is said to have been the result of criticisms on the part of Sheridan of the official acts of young Thacker's father, who is a county commissioner. The son had cited upon Sheridan for a retraction of the criticisms he is alleged to have made in his paper. In the quarrel which followed Sheridan shot the young man. Owing to the feeling prevailing here Sheridan was taken to the Cairo jail.

Rain Poor Substitute for Irrigation. Irrigation is better than rain, infinitely better. That also sounds like a paradox, but instead it is almost a truism. What is better—to give a plant just as much and no more water than it needs and just when it needs it; or to parch it or drown it according to the whim of the clouds? The rain falls upon the just and upon the unjust alike; upon your strawberries that cry for it and upon your sugar-beets that want uninterrupted sunshine. Rain is all right in its place, but it is a very poor substitute for irrigation. Otherwise why would the laws of our cities be sprinkled or irrigated, instead of leaving them to the tender mercy of the clouds? No. Arid lands are more fertile than ordinary lands, and irrigation is better than rain.

A Bridge of Coffins. When the British forces were marching to Peking in 1860, after the capture of the Taku forts, one of the rivers became so swollen with the heavy rains that it was rendered almost impassable. While in this quandary a bright idea suddenly struck one of our officers. Being well aware that the Chinese generally order their coffins years in advance and keep them on the premises and also that they are perfectly air tight he consulted with his brother officers, with the result that orders were given to search all the houses of the village and collect every coffin. With the aid of a few empty casks the soldiers constructed a pontoon bridge of coffins sufficiently strong to bear the artillery, and the river was thus passed in safety.

A Spiritual Carrot. The lay preacher has his rewards, but he has also many discouragements. A veteran brother once, at a conference of lay preachers, gave them some cheer. He said: "When I was a lad I used to drive a donkey, cart. Sometimes the donkey would not go, but I tied a carrot on the end of my whip and dangled it in front of his nose, and then he went. My brothers, let me dangle a spiritual carrot before you—Be not weary in well doing, for in due time ye shall reap if ye faint not."

Where Great Writer Lived. Cragenputtock, where Carlyle's "Sartor Resartus" was written, has just been the scene of a notable wedding. The bride was Miss Mary Carlyle of Cragenputtock, a grand-niece of Thomas Carlyle, and the bridegroom James Carlyle, a farmer of Pingle, Dumfriesshire, a son of Thomas Carlyle's favorite nephew. Pingle is about four miles from Ecclefechan, Carlyle's birthplace, and this village is the original of the Entuphi of "Sartor Resartus."

Catching Mrs Jones's

If Mrs. Jones buys her coffee at Smith's each week—
If the coffee in your store is better than Smith's and cheaper—
Why, TELL MRS. JONES!
Don't dash wildly across the street to tell her, though; she'd laugh at you. Insert a sane, forceful advertisement in this paper about your coffee.
We'll catch her eye by making your ad. attractive. Then all that's left for you to do is to take in the money for the coffee Mrs. Jones buys.

THIS IS CERTAIN

THE PROOF THAT DIXON READERS CANNOT DENY.
What could furnish stronger evidence to the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills cure permanently.

Home endorsements should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Julius Gottlieb, 418 W. First St., Dixon, Ill., says: "My back pained me for some time and I was often so lame and sore it was hard for me to stoop. The secretions from my kidneys were irregular in passage and I was then convinced that these organs were disordered. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at the Leake Bros. Co.'s drug store and commenced their use. My experience with this remedy was very satisfactory and I am pleased to acknowledge the benefits I received. Doan's Kidney Pills lived up to all the claims made for them in my case." (Statement given April 14, 1909.)

A Lasting Effect.
Mr. Gottlieb was interviewed on January 4, 1910, and he added to the above: "You may continue to publish my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. The relief they gave me has been permanent and I now have no trouble from my kidneys whatever. I have often told other persons of the great merit of Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name — Doan's — and take no other.

Little Else.
A London attorney named Else, rather diminutive in his stature and not particularly respectable in his character, once met Jekyll. "Sir," said he, "I hear you have called me a pettifogging scoundrel. Have you done so, sir?"
"Sir," said Jekyll, with a look of contempt, "I never said you were a pettifogger or a scoundrel, but I said you were 'Little Else.'"—Westminster Gazette.
